

Ike's Assault Gives Hope to Republicans

By STERLING F. GREEN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A free-swinging assault by President Eisenhower on Democratic "irresponsibility" raised Republican hopes today for a home stretch victory in the final 10 days of the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower flew here Friday night for a nationally televised speech in his drive to make his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, his successor. Nixon was reported "extremely exhilarated" by the President's praise.

Eisenhower sparked bursts of applause as he hammered hard at Sen. John F. Kennedy's charges that Republican leadership has damaged American prestige abroad and steered the country into economic doldrums.

The President drew cheers with his shaft at the Democratic nominee. "My friends, anyone who seeks to grasp the reins of world leadership should not spend all his time wringing his hands."

Declaring Nixon "by long odds" the best qualified man to be president, Eisenhower struck the familiar Republican theme that Kennedy is immature and brash.

"Though he never mentioned Kennedy by name, Eisenhower said: 'I hear that one candidate says he will act first and act fast. America needs a man who will think first, and then act wisely.'"

Pennsylvania Republican leaders, recently concerned at signs of waning Kennedy strength, were jubilant over Eisenhower's speech and the warmth of his reception from thousands on midtown Philadelphia streets.

In his speech to a dinner sponsored by the Nixon-for-President Committee of Pennsylvania, Eisenhower said the United States is the most powerful nation on earth in force of arms. He cited a page-long list of economic gains in the past eight years to "demonstrate his claim that 'never have Americans achieved so much in so short a time.'"

He said he was "profoundly concerned by some statements in this campaign that have cruelly distorted the image of America."

"These statements demonstrate an amazing irresponsibility," said Eisenhower. "They demand, from me, emphatic correction."

He recited foreign policy "successes" which, he said, refuted the charges that the nation has lost prestige. The list ranged from the halting of the "costly and futile" Korean War to "a decent solution of the Suez affair" and the forging of "new ties with our neighbors to the south."

Commission records show attendance at state parks has been on a steady increase since 1947, the first year for which records were kept, when total attendance was 223,000.

Figures through Oct. 25 show 299,300 visitors at the 15 state parks. This is an increase of almost one million over last year's 202,300.

Last year was the first year in which attendance topped two million.

Tip on How to Tell Difference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Press secretary James C. Hagerty gave newsmen a little help today on how to distinguish President Eisenhower's political from his non-political speeches.

A reporter inquired plaintively: "Jim, how do you tell what is a political trip and what isn't?"

Hagerty grinned and replied: "Whenever I announce that's what it is."

Tonight's televised address at Philadelphia is avowedly political, in behalf of the Nixon-Lodge Republican ticket. But last week's far-ranging Eisenhower speaking tour, called nonpolitical, was criticized by Democrats because of meetings between the President and Republican leaders en route, as well as comments in the speeches which Democrats contended were hardly nonpartisan.

Court Deals a Blow to Monitorship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today dealt the Teamsters Union monitorship a possible fatal blow.

The court ruled 2-1, that either side in the controversy may veto the appointment of a chairman "on reasonable grounds."

Some observers interpreted the decision as possibly meaning it will be impossible for U.S. District Court Judge F. Dickinson Letts to find a new chairman.

The appellate court's decision upheld objections of the union to Letts' appointment of former FBI agent Terence F. McShane as chairman of the monitors board.

Letts named McShane September. He served on days before the appellate court held up the appointment pending a formal ruling.

Without a chairman, the monitorship loses its effectiveness since each side has a member and the board's action must be taken by a majority of votes.

Members of the board now are Lawrence T. Smith, representing dissident Teamsters, and William E. Bufalino of Detroit, a Teamsters Union official and a close friend of union President James R. Hoffa, who represents the union.

The monitorship was set up in January, 1958. It resulted from a compromise settlement of a suit by union dissidents to bar Hoffa from taking office as president.

In return for allowing Hoffa to take office, the union agreed to the monitorship to watch over the activities of Hoffa and to bring about a cleanup of the scandal-ridden union, largest in the nation.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic official asserted today the presidential candidates have been unable to agree on having a fifth television debate. He accused Vice President Richard M. Nixon of apparently not acting in good faith.

J. Leonard Reinsch, the John F. Kennedy official who has been negotiating on the debate, added that apparently Nixon "is not willing to meet Sen. Kennedy again face to face in the final stages of this crucial campaign."

Reinsch made the statements in a telegram to all of the network stations. He said Kennedy still stands willing to debate with Nixon, despite the deadlock that has developed.

Reinsch has been meeting periodically since Monday with Fred Scribner, undersecretary of the Treasury and Nixon's spokesman in the debate negotiations.

Nixon had telegraphed Kennedy last Sunday that he would be willing to debate Kennedy a fifth time and did not as he had previously, say it should be restricted to Cuba.

It was this telegram that Reinsch described as an apparent indication that Nixon was "not acting in good faith in his acceptance."

Law Curbing Nurse Homes Considered

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A proposed law to create an advisory council to supervise operation of nursing homes was outlined today for the Legislative Council's Welfare Committee.

Pulaski Rep. Glenn Walther explained the bill which grew out of a study of nursing home conditions ordered by the 1959 Legislature.

The new bill will be submitted to the 1961 General Assembly.

Walther said current laws make both the Welfare Department and the Health Department responsible for licensing of nursing homes.

The new law would vest this power in the advisory council, which would work with the Health Department.

Three places on the board would be reserved for nursing home operators. These would be filled by gubernatorial appointment.

Other at-large members would include a registered nurse, a practical nurse and a physician.

Ex-officio members would be the state health officer or his representative, the welfare commissioner or his representative and the state fire marshal or his representative.

Plant Workers Vote on Union

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)—Production employees of the Daisy Air Rifle plant here voted today on proposed union representation.

The workers had a choice among any one of three unions or none at all in the election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board.

The rival unions are Machinists, a Teamsters affiliate and the Boyton County Independent Workers Association.

If no choice receives a majority, there will be a runoff election.

About 500 employees were eligible to vote.

John Barrymore Weds Italian

ROME (AP)—John Barrymore Jr., 28, got married today in a red-trimmed tuxedo shirt with black buttons and a black waist-length jacket with a stand-up, ear-high collar.

The actor's bride, Italian movie starlet Gabriella Gabby Palazzoli, 23, looked charming in a short white gown and white veil. She carried a small bouquet of orange blossoms.

They were married by a Roman Catholic priest in San Sebastiano church at the top of the Palatine, one of the seven hills on which Rome was founded 27 centuries ago. There were about 60 guests. The couple will honeymoon in Spain.

There Is No Better Slogan Than to "Learn by Doing" — 4-H Clubs Have Proved This

By MARY ANITA LASETER

This is traditionally the time for young people with Halloween only two days away. Too often we are prone to emphasize the "bad," instead of calling attention to the many more young people who behave themselves.

Thus, we aren't going to deal with ghosts, goblins or Halloween "bandits" today, but instead let's look at one of the finest organizations for boys and girls between 10 and 21 years of age — the 4-H Club.

There are about 90,000 4-H Clubs with over 2,000,000 members in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. The national 4-H leaders announced about a week ago that these boys and girls have completed 3,835,976 projects during the past year, and these projects came from 100 categories. Now, no one can be busy as they and still have time for malice.

In our own Hempstead County there are three community clubs: DeAnn, Victory and Shover Springs, with a total membership of approximately 100. Like other 4-H Club members they are willing to "learn by doing," which is the club slogan, and "to make the best better," which is the club motto. Character development and good citizenship are long-range goals.

As in most activities of young people, the parents play an important part in 4-H Club work, and their co-operation is not only needed, it is a necessity. The new 4-H Club program stresses adult leadership in each community. Mrs. William Schooley, DeAnn Road, is very active in 4-H Club work, and this past summer was elected District Vice President for Southwest Arkansas. Leaders are trained, counseled, and assisted by the county agents of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Originally planned to help farm youngsters, the voluntary educational program now claims nearly half its membership from city and non-farm rural homes. Apparently "pride of accomplishment" is a key factor in this particular brand of youth organization. The 4-H Club idea now circles the globe. More than 40 countries of the world have adopted all or part of the plan and have adapted it to their own needs and conditions.

Particularly at fair time are the accomplishments of 4-H Club boys and girls shown to their best advantage. At the Third District Livestock Show this year the 4-H Club educational booth won a blue ribbon, and it received second place in Texarkana with an excellent rating at the Four States Fair, Linda Hampton, Peggy Hampton, and Janet Roberts won a blue ribbon in the Shore-The-Fun Festival at the

W. E. Robins Dies Thursday at Nashville

William Edgar Robins, age 80, a retired farmer of Nashville, died Thursday in a Nashville hospital. He had lived in Hempstead County all of his life prior to moving to Nashville about ten years ago and was a member of the Zion Baptist Church.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Georgia Robins of Nashville; a son, Jessie Robins of Ozan; 3 daughters, Mrs. J. D. Webb of Prescott, Mrs. Alva Alford of Nashville and Mrs. James Brandon of Ft. Worth, Tex.; two brothers, Lem Robins of Ozan and Otis Robins of Texarkana; four sisters, Mrs. Pearl Harris and Mrs. Venie Russey, both of Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Nellie Hudspeth of Texarkana, and Mrs. Stella Barrow of Memphis, Tenn.; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Friday, at the Latimer Funeral Chapel in Nashville with Rev. Mike Carozza and Rev. W. C. Lewis officiating. Burial was in St. Paul Cemetery near Ozan by the Latimer Funeral Service.

Additional Pay Raises Before ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—When the Arkansas Legislative Council begins its second week of budget hearings Monday it probably will get into an important discussion over which state employees should have a pay raise—the higher paid ones, or the ones in lower income brackets.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus asked for more pay for the office heads and other persons with more responsibility. But the Council seems more interested in giving the little man the cash raise.

One discrepancy in that theory, though, is a $600-a-year raise given to W. P. Ball, director of the Board of Pardons, Paroles and Probations. Faubus asked that his salary be raised from $600 to $7,000, but the board boosted it to $7,500.

The council wound up its first week of hearings Thursday, with several small differences with Faubus' first annual budget report still unsettled. It reconvenes at 10 a. m. Monday.

The reduced budget for the Assessment Coordination Division of the Public Service Commission cleared the council without controversy. It is down 23,900 a year to $212,000.

Other budgets approved without controversy were the Apriary Board's $21,296 a year and the Confederate Home's $25,530.

The council held up on the budgets of the Alcoholism Commission, the Cancer Commission and the Negro Boys Industrial School, saying it wants more information on the latter two.

Department Store Sales Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reports that department store sales in the 8th Federal Reserve District the week ended Oct. 22 were one per cent above those of the similar period of last year.

A 14 per cent improvement of sales in seven smaller district cities and a seven per cent gain for the St. Louis area offset lower sales figures in Little Rock, Louisville and Memphis.

Louisville was down six per cent, Memphis nine and Little Rock 14.

Cumulative sales for the year to date were about the same as the like period last year.

Tribune Says Survey Shows Prestige Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune said today it has been told that a report completed Oct. 10 for the U. S. Information Agency shows a "continuing decline" in American prestige in Western Europe relative to the Soviet Union.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper reported that a House subcommittee investigator, digging into the entire question of USIA prestige polls, said:

"The Oct. 10 report is a Western Europe report showing the continuing decline of United States prestige, vis-a-vis Russia."

"Most significant is the fact that the breakdown given in the report shows that while lower economic groups in these countries are maintaining about the same attitude toward the United States, the intelligentsia shows a sharp drop in confidence in the United States."

The investigator was quoted as saying that the Oct. 10 prestige report was based on questions put to Western Europeans dealing with the world balance of power as between the United States and the Soviet Union and relative "technical" competence of the two nations in the field of outer space and missile development.

The Herald Tribune said another source, who said he had access to the Oct. 10 report, said that while the reported drop in United States prestige was more marked among European intellectual leaders than among lower economic groups, United States standing had slipped among both groups.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon contends U. S. prestige in the world is at an all-time high. Sen. John F. Kennedy says it is slipping.

The Herald Tribune has endorsed Nixon for president.

Cuba Sure to Protest Arrival of U. S. Marines

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—The arrival of a contingent of U. S. Marines at Guantanamo naval base today for the weekend was expected to launch Prime Minister Fidel Castro into a new round of charges that the United States is grooming an invasion force.

Cuban officials showed great interest in the announcement from Washington that 1,400 Marines on maneuvers in the Caribbean will land at the U. S. naval base in the east end of Cuba for a few days of rest and recreation.

Cuban officials did not comment. Castro was to make a nationwide television speech today, the time of which was indefinite.

The Washington announcement coincided with other developments in plummeting U. S.-Cuban relations.

The government-controlled press in war-type banner lines said the 300 Marines already in Guantanamo were polishing up their training with realistic combat exercises. A Marine has been killed and three have been injured by mines planted along the perimeter of the base, these reports said.

Cuban authorities at Santiago, near Guantanamo, were said to be concerned that the United States was preparing a fake attack against the big naval installation as a pretext for armed aggression against Cuba.

The U. S. State Department asked a special six-nation committee of the Organization of American States to investigate its charges that thousands of tons of Soviet blue arms have been shipped to Cuba along with Communist technicians to train Cubans in their use. The committee was set up last August to look into U. S.-Cuban disputes.

Sources in Havana said they had information that Cuba has imported more than 22,000 tons of arms and munitions from Soviet and Eastern European countries since August 1959. Knocked-down aircraft—other helicopters or jet fighters—were reported among shipments unloaded at out-of-the-way ports.

The United Nations announced that the full General Assembly would meet Monday to hear an appeal by Cuba for a quick hearing on its charges that the United States plans a grand-scale invasion.

In Moscow Tass issued an account of an interview premier Khrushchev gave Cuban newsmen in which the Soviet news agency quoted the premier as saying his promise of rocket support to Cuba in event of American aggression "should be considered symbolic."

Earlier, Revolution, the Castro organ, had said Khrushchev was asked if Soviet rockets were ready to assist Cuba in case of need and quoted him as answering: "Unquestionably. But it's better that there be no aggression, as we will do everything possible to avoid using our rockets."

Luxury and high fashion are combined in these fur coats which offer beautiful shape and wrap. The coats shown here are designed to fall short of a dress hemline and thus give the wearer added slimmness and height. A classic coat of great elegance is this one in three-quarter length (left) in baby fawn. The line, from shoulder to hem, is perfectly straight. Natural seal in golden fawn color is used (center) for a coat handled with great simplicity. It is cut with a barrel silhouette, is double-breasted and has a large notched collar. Sleek coat in baby leopard (right) shows the Oriental influence. It is slit on either side up to the knee and is cut with a mandarin collar. All coats shown here are Leo Ritter designs.

Praise and Blame Is Columnist's Lot

HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Here is music to a columnist's ear, apropos of a piece I wrote about Dorothy Dix.

Dear Helen:

I do so much enjoy your story on the late Dorothy Dix. I was in the U. S. Army 20 years and retired only recently. Whenever I could buy a paper with Dorothy's column in it, I did so. I have seen many soldiers seated on their bunks in an army barracks reading her column.

And then too, many men read the column overseas. You write a good column which I enjoy each evening in my St. Joseph News-Press. Thanks again. Just wanted you to know that millions of soldiers read your story many times.

R. L. Steibler, Sabatha, Kan.

Thank you, Mr. Steibler!

This letter is in reply to one recently published from a 16-year-old girl who hesitated between school and marriage.

Dear Helen:

Just a few real facts from one that knows: I was married at 17 to a boy almost 20. He was a good boy, had a diploma from his school, but no job or even the promise of one. I did not finish high school to my sorrow. Many a night I've cried myself to sleep. I couldn't get a job of any kind.

Oh, yes, I could baby sit or do housework and I did, for we needed the money. I had our baby the first year of our marriage. More followed. Many times love seemed very dim. Today, more than ever, you need at least a high school education so you can go on to higher learning, if need be.

The girl who wrote to you said she is weak. We all are. Tell her to pray for strength, knowledge and wisdom to finish school. The young man will be more proud of her when he takes her as his wife.

Mrs. Sears, who expects another child early next year, spoke to her husband over a San Antonio radio station shortly after her release.

He was enroute to San Antonio by car after being told his wife and child had been taken there. Sears is a school teacher near Annetta.

Knowing he would be listening to the car radio she said "Hello, Walter, I'm all right." Cynthia said, "Hi, Daddy."

Jones, who has spent most of the last 22 years in prison, is charged with the shooting death of Jackson, an ex-convict, found in some woods near Texarkana Sunday.

Fort Worth police said J. V. Yerner and a 21-year-old second cousin of Jones' found Jones in the woman's apartment late Sunday night. Jones forced them into the country north of Fort Worth, raped the woman and tied Yerner's hands and feet and attempted to strangle him.

Jones was convicted in 1943 of murdering H. H. Hasselberg, 46, a foreman at the Lone Star Ordnance Plant at Texarkana.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Arkansas Penitentiary.

He escaped in 1944, from a work detail, but was captured in Texas and sentenced to 35 years for robbery.

Jones was returned to Arkansas in 1952 to finish the life sentence there.

Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus commuted the sentence to 50 years on March 11, 1959.

Jones was paroled last Sept. 10.

—From a Tired but Still Loved Old Gal in her Sixties

A reader complained not long ago that her landlord snooped through her apartment. My advice to her was based on the old English law that a man's home is his castle and entry of it constitutes invasion of privacy. This drew fire from an irate landlady. Mrs. Jesse Smith Jr., of Havre de Grace, Maryland.

Dear Helen:

You gave your readers some gross information.

We rent very nice completely furnished apartments here, which we consider the homes of our tenants. When, or before tenants move in, I tell them we have a pass key and will only in case of dire emergency, such as leaving windows open when it rains. I do not think any law in the country could deny us this right. If plumbing or electricity should go bad do you think we could wait to get a court order to enter our own property?

Of course, should you not own your own property, you would certainly not realize what a landlord has invested, or how very costly it is to replace anything today.

We get a lot of brides and grooms. They will move into freshly painted rooms and drive large nails, as many as eight in one room. When they leave they pull out the nails, which removes the plaster and paint. We have to redecorate at the cost of more than one's month's rent.

You had better stick to your advice on other subjects. Landlords have a hard enough time by being taken advantage of. What our tenants have or do not have, does not interest us any degree. —Rosemary Smith

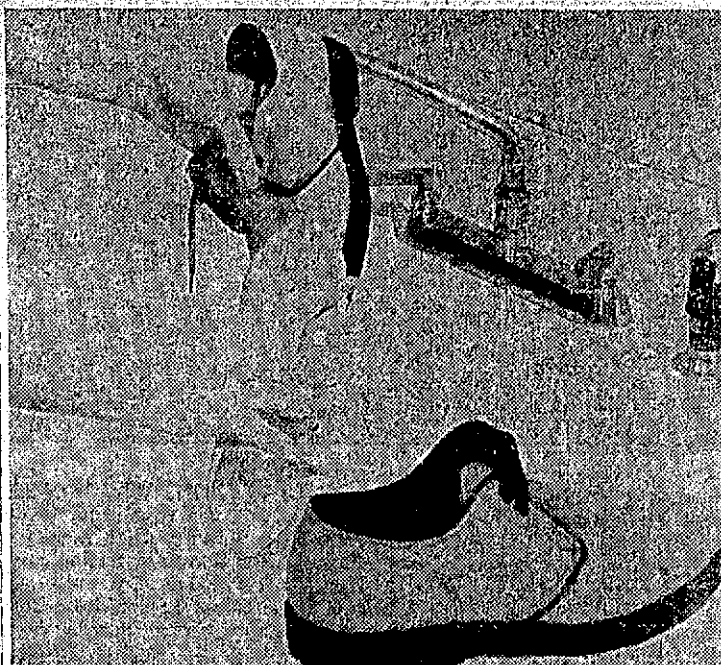

Dear Mrs. Smith: You are evidently not a snooper, the other landlord apparently was, without legitimate cause.

A month or so ago I told the story of a husband who brought home a baby, without a word of explanation and asked his wife to care for it. She did—but in due time, brought home a baby herself. Her husband never questioned her, nor she him. My story was apropos of an unhappy letter from a wife whose husband done much the same thing.

Mrs. S. T. Clarke, of Hamilton, Ontario, doubts the truth of my story. "Your reply to 'Hurt' is absolutely ridiculous," she storms. "In the case of the husband's child, even if it were his by another woman, the mother of the child has to give all information upon being admitted to the hospital, and in Canada at any rate, there is a lot of investigation of both husband and wife. In the case of the wife, the baby could not have been hers, or surely her husband would have noticed she was pregnant, and if she had adopted it, there again, both concerned have to be present. . . I think your answer highly fantastic."

Dear Mrs. Clarke: Truth is stranger than fiction. I've known the husband since I was a little girl. By coincidence, he and his wife—and the children—happen to be neighbors of another friend of mine. We both doubt the second child was the wife's.

Candidates Rarely Use Written Talk

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—An hour before Sen. John F. Kennedy was to arrive in Chicago recently, reporters were handed a minute-by-minute schedule of his four-hour stay there.

Across the top of this detailed, two-page timetable were these words: "We are behind schedule — all movements must be expedited."

This illustrates as well as anything a major difference in the way Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon run their campaigns.

Nixon tries to be meticulously on time and usually is. Kennedy tries to be approximately on time, but he nearly always is off to a late start, and so he's rarely on schedule—so rarely he can be written off as running late even before he hits town.

This attitude affects their campaigns. An air of careful premeditation, of anticipating each crisis and trying to prepare for it, permeates the Nixon camp.

An air of improvisation, as if someone forgot the script but it doesn't matter much anyway, seems, at least at times, to control Kennedy and his employees.

But these differences can be stressed to much. Anyone who travels with both candidates is more impressed at how frequently the techniques jibe than at how much they differ.

Both "firmly believe" in the hustle-bustle theory of politics. This holds that elections are won by keeping the candidate as near to perpetual motion as is humanly possible.

Each has tried to flush out votes by train and by motorcade, but the favorite transportation has been the three-airplane caravan.

The candidate rides in one plane, with the rear end partitioned off so that he can have privacy. With him are his top advisers, plus three newsmen, one from each of the two press associations and one a pool man representing the others.

Don't think the newsmen get on the inside track by being physically closer to the great man. Nixon and Kennedy have about as much time for chit-chat as a surgeon would have as he hears the end of the delicate operation.

Other newspaper men are riding the second plane, and photographers, left-over staff personnel and baggage are toted in the third one.

But it's not just the way the candidates flit about. It's the similar ways in which they go about their speech-making that is most striking.

Rarely has a campaign produced such a smidgen of specifics and such barrels of generalities. And surely one reason has been the speech habits of both candidates.

Kennedy and Nixon are both good talkers but mediocre speech readers. As a result, relatively few speeches have been prepared by or for them. And those that have been are almost ignored by the candidates.

Manhunt for Texarkanian Spreads Out

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—An all-out manhunt for an armed convicted murderer who kidnaped an expectant mother and her young daughter, raped a woman and attempted to kill her companion centered in this south Texas city today.

The massive manhunt for Curtis Lee Jones, 38, a paroled Arkansas convict, covered a huge portion of the state Thursday.

Police warned citizens to avoid contact with Jones, described as desperate.

He is charged with murdering Doyle Jackson 45, Texarkana, earlier this week.

Jones kidnaped Mrs. Walter Sears, 24, and her 2-year-old daughter, Cynthia, Thursday from their home near Annetta, about 20 miles west of Fort Worth.

He forced the woman and child at gunpoint into their car and eluding police roadblocks, drove 250 miles south to

Adlai Not Forgotten Completely

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, who enraptured millions with his eloquence in the presidential campaigns of 1952 and 1956, is not the completely forgotten man of 1960.

But although he is still diligent with his sentences, he is hardly more than a minor voice on the outer fringes of the campaign.

The Democrats, after twice making him their presidential choice, this year swept him into the backwater of history along with all the other also-rans when they brushed him aside none too gently for Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Now he is doing what he said he would do, though, when he said it, what he thought he might be doing was running for president.

Last June, still thinking he might get a third nomination without asking for it, he said: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

He has been called upon — to stump for Kennedy. He has been pursuing that task gracefully with many fine and pleasant things to say about the man who beat him and many unpleasant things to say about Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Self-conscious Stevenson used to exasperate newsmen with his fidgety fussing over sentences and phrases and his endless writing and rewriting of his speeches on plane hops between stops.

The result used to be that newsmen got his speeches late — which meant newspapers and the public got them late — and even then had to watch every word he spoke to check any last-minute changes.

Kennedy, like Nixon, talks off the cuff. Stevenson was a literary dancing master. Kennedy gives the impression of a young man who hardly has time to say hello.

Kennedy, like Nixon, harps on the same theme day after day with small variations until covering both men sometimes develops a painful monotony.

Listening to Stevenson often became painful, people who might admire his sentence structure but wish for more force and less gentility.

Still, Kennedy as a phrase-taker isn't in the same league with Stevenson who even at this late date, and despite his minor role, is fastidious about his adjectives.

But Stevenson, despite the prim impression he made, was rougher on President Eisenhower than Kennedy is on Nixon.

To a man like Stevenson, who hovers over the English language like a nursemaid tucking a baby in bed, it may be sometimes distressing to see Kennedy, who bubbles out words like a gun, running ahead in the polls against Nixon.

This was something Stevenson never could do against Eisenhower.

CHAPTER XXXVI

The Piazza was alive with soldiers and people of the quarter when a jeep carrying the Mont-Altos entered from the east. At the same moment another jeep bringing Luciano, his mother, and Rosalia came from the west. They stopped side by side between the fountain and the church.

"Quite, quite mad," Principessa Monte-Altos said to the Contessa Danesi, "Saverio, Felice, and your Luciano. They've gone insane since we went away. Weddings planned with no banns — weddings postponed — and the mothers' province after all — not consulted. I'm quite dizzy, up since dawn, a stone-mason's wedding, riding in these ferocious motorized boxes." She pointed to the jeeps.

Luciano's mother laughed. "My dear, if you'd lived with Luciano's father as long as I did, you'd expect anything, anytime!"

Then had to watch every word he spoke to check any last-minute changes.

Christ cleansed the Leper and hope, instead of death, brought relief. Through the grace of God, Leprosy has been conquered. One by one the curses of disease and pestilence give way before the Christian Gospel of love and healing. Every good physician, every ministering nurse, every great hospital is a product of the healing ministry of Jesus... the Great Physician. Is your touch always a healing touch? Have you today tried to heal a hurt, to mend a heart, to lead a friend to church? Everyone of us ought to be some sort of missionary, or nurse, or healer of the hurts of those who cry for help. Oh, God, never let us add to the total of human misery and pain.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH. GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
